(b) Harass, oppress, or abuse.

- (1) harass, oppress, or abuse shall mean and include, but not be limited to, when the utility, municipality or ESCO knowingly fails or neglects to comply with the provisions of Article 2 of the Public Service Law. The following conduct shall be deemed a violation of this section:

REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT FOR 23-M-0229SP1 16 NYCRR Part 11

Statutory Authority:

Public Service Law (PSL) Articles 2 and 4 assign to the Public Service

Commission (PSC) jurisdiction, supervision, powers, and duties over residential gas, electric, steam corporations, and municipal electric and/or gas utilities in the State. The Energy Service Companies (ESCOs) are also subject to Commission jurisdiction under Public Service Law (PSL) Article 2. On November 8, 2021, PSL Section 53-a was amended by Chapter 590 of the Laws of 2021 to prohibit utility corporations, municipal utilities, and ESCOs subject to PSC jurisdiction (service providers) from engaging in any conduct, the natural consequence of which is to harass, oppress, or abuse any residential customer in connection with the handling of a complaint, the offering of a deferred payment agreement or the collection of an unpaid bill. The amendment to the PSL also provides that all service providers in violation of the statute shall be subject to fines, penalties and enforcement pursuant to PSL Sections 24, 25, 25-a and 26. Further, the amendment directed the Commission to promulgate rules and regulations necessary to implement and enforce the provisions of the statute.

Legislative Objectives:

The objectives of both the statute and the proposed regulations are to clarify and strengthen the rights of residential customers under the Home Energy Fair Practices Act (HEFPA). The proposed regulations are drafted to ensure the fair treatment of all residential customers. The proposed amendment to 16 NYCRR Part 11 meets these objectives because the amendment aligns with the required provisions of the statute and provide implementation and enforcement mechanisms.

Needs and Benefits:

The proposed regulatory changes are necessary to align the Commission's consumer protection regulations with the enacted state statute. The Commission implements its residential consumer protections for electricity, gas, steam, and ESCO customers through 16 NYCRR Part 11. The proposed rules would comply with the requirements of PSL Section 53-a regarding the prohibitions on service providers from harassing, oppressing, or abusing residential customers in the context of filing a complaint, negotiating a deferred payment agreement, or collection of an unpaid bill. The proposed rules would also ensure that applicants for electric and gas service are provided the same protections as existing customers, to comply with PSL Section 65(3). The investigation of any failure to comply with the statute and regulatory amendments will be adjudicated according to the Commission's consumer compliant process contained in 16 NYCRR Part 12. Further, penalties and enforcement of any finding of a failure to comply with the statute and regulatory amendments will comply with the PSL Sections 24, 25, 25-a and 26.

Therefore, the Commission proposes these consumer protection rules in furtherance of its service provider oversight responsibilities under the PSL.

COSTS: Costs to Private Regulated Parties:

Any prudently incurred cost associated with the proposed rules may be potentially recovered by a utility corporation or municipal utility through a rate proceeding.

Costs to Local Government:

There are no anticipated added costs to local governments. A municipality that provides electricity and/or gas service to residential customers may seek to recover prudently incurred costs associated with the proposed rules through a rate proceeding.

Costs to the Public Service Commission or the Department of Public Service:

There are no anticipated added costs to the Commission or Department.

Costs to Other State Agencies:

There are no known or identifiable costs to other State agencies or offices of State government.

Local Government Mandates:

A municipality that provides electricity and/or gas service to residential customers will be required to comply with the regulations, which are required by PSL Sections 53-a.

Paperwork:

All service providers subject to this rule will be required to implement business practices to ensure that the prohibitions against harassment, oppression and abuse of residential customers are in place. All service providers will also be required to, at a minimum, update relevant public facing customer service materials and provide training to all staff to accomplish the purpose of the statute.

Duplication:

The purpose of the new regulations is to align them with a recently enacted state statute. There are no relevant state regulations that duplicate, overlap, or conflict with the proposed revisions.

Alternatives:

There is a "no action alternative," but such an alternative is not permissible as it would result in the Commission being out of compliance with a state statute.

Federal Standards:

There are no similar standards of the Federal government appliable to the relevant gas and electric utility service providers. However, the definitions in the proposed regulations to HEFPA are modeled after the Federal Trade Commission's "Fair Debt Collection Practices Act," as provided in 15 USC §1692d.

Compliance Schedule:

The proposed revisions would be effective upon publication of a Notice of Adoption in the New York State Register.

REGULATORY FLEXIBILITY ANALYSIS FOR SMALL BUSINESSES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS FOR 23-M-0229SP1

- 1. Effect of rule: The proposed rules protect residential customers' rights when negotiating a billing dispute or a deferred payment agreement or filing a complaint against a utility corporation, municipal utility or an Energy Service Company (ESCO) (service providers). There are 38 municipal gas and electric utilities regulated by the Public Service Commission (PSC). The proposed rules prohibit service providers from engaging in any detrimental conduct toward a residential customer, which is defined as harassment, oppression or abuse. The proposed rules provide the Department of Public Service (Department) and the PSC investigative and enforcement mechanisms for any violations.
- 2. Compliance requirements: There are no additional burdens on service providers resulting from the proposed rules.
- 3. Professional services: There are no professional services that small businesses or local governments are likely to need to comply with the rules.
- 4. Compliance costs: There are no expected costs to service providers to comply with the proposed rules. To the extent that a service provider incurs costs to comply with the proposed rules, those service providers subject to PSC rate setting jurisdiction may seek to recover just and reasonable costs through a rate proceeding.
- 5. Economic and technological feasibility: The proposed rules do not require any specialized technology for compliance.
- 6. Minimizing adverse impact: No known adverse impacts exist.

- 7. Small business and local government participation: Small businesses are not affected by the proposed rules. Local governments may only be affected by the rule to the extent that there are 38 municipalities that provide regulated electricity and/or natural gas service to residential customers. The DPS intends to comply with State Administrative Procedures Act (SAPA) section 202-b(6) by posting the draft proposed rule on its website and conducting outreach through direct email notification to certain local government organizations that the proposed draft rule has been posted.
- 8. Cure Period: No cure period is included in the proposed rules. Department of Public Service's Office of Consumer Service staff will investigate complaints from residential customers about a service provider's failure to comply with the proposed rules. If the Department's investigation finds that a service provider has violated the rules, that service provider shall be subject to penalties and an enforcement proceeding pursuant to Public Service Law sections twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-five-a and twenty six.

RURAL AREA FLEXIBILITY ANALYSIS FOR 23-M-0229SP1

- 1. Types and estimated numbers of rural areas: The rules apply to the entire State of New York (State), including all rural areas of the State.
- 2. Reporting, recordkeeping and other compliance requirements, and professional services: The rules apply to utility corporations, municipal utilities, and Energy Service Companies that provide electricity and/or natural gas to residential customers and that are subject to Public Service Commission (PSC) jurisdiction (service providers). The rules neither require nor specify any greater reporting, record keeping or compliance requirements in rural areas than in any other area of the State.
- 3. Costs: The rules apply only to service providers and will create no added costs specific or germane to rural areas.
- 4. Minimizing adverse impact: No adverse impacts are anticipated from the rules.
- 5. Rural area participation: Service providers that serve residential customers who reside in rural areas and rural community leaders will be notified of the proposed rulemaking and invited to participate in the stakeholder process. Furthermore, the Public Service Commission (PSC) will accept public comments in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and will summarize and respond to the comments that are received.
- 6. Initial review of the rule, pursuant to State Administrative Procedure Act Section 207: Not applicable.

JOB IMPACT EXEMPTION FOR 23-M-0229SP1

The Department of Public Service projects that there will be no adverse impact on jobs or employment opportunities in the State of New York (State) because of this proposed rule change. The proposed amendment to 16 NYCRR Part 11 is necessary for the implementation of Public Service Law Section 53-a, as amended by Chapter 590 of the Laws of 2021. Every utility corporation, municipal utility, and Energy Service Company that provides residential electricity and/or natural gas and is subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission shall be required to follow these rules, which prohibit harassment, oppression or abuse of any residential customer.

No further steps were needed to ascertain these facts, and none were taken. As apparent from the nature and purpose of this proposed rule change, a full Job Impact Statement is not required and therefore one has not been prepared.
